

TEACHERS COLLEGE
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

Advanced Certificate Program in Medical Education

Information Sheet

Participants: The certificate program is designed for doctors who assume, or are interested in, educational leadership roles and responsibilities. They might be teachers or directors of programs, fellowships, residencies, clerkships and/or undergraduate ME, GME and CME. Participants will build medical education skills in facilitating adult learning, mentoring and coaching, giving feedback, gaining leadership self-awareness and capabilities, assessing and evaluating programs, and developing healthy learning environments in their organizations and communities. They will collaboratively learn with and from one another as they tackle current challenges of their choice.

Design: Cohort of participating doctors
